WARD'S
Patent Grapple.
THIS GRAPPLE WAS INVENTED BY
Moses N. Ward,
OF BANGOR,
And was patented December [illegible] 1868.
IN STRENGTH, SIMPLICITY and FACILITY OF USE, it is far superior to anything of the kind ever invented.
It is wonderful in its adaptation to every [illegible] of object to which it [illegible] to [illegible] certain hold of logs, barrels, boxes and [illegible] with equal readiness.
No Mill, no Vessel, no Store nor Store House, should be without it.
It is indispensable to every ship builder and every wharf builder. In fine, the Grapple is invaluable wherever there are heavy objects to be grappled, hoisted and moved.
All persons interested in the use of the Grapple, are invited to call and examine these instruments at the store of the manufacturers,

ELLIS' IRON BITTERS.
Having used your Iron Bitters in my practice, I can testify to its superior tonic properties for invigorating the appetite and promoting digestion. I can unhesitatingly recommend it in cases of general debility and dyspepsia, and in conditions of the system requiring the use of a ferruginous tonic. Its agreeable flavor must recommend it to all.
Yours, Respectfully,

Republican State Convention.

The citizens of Maine, who endorse the policy enunciated in the Inaugural Address of President Grant, and who are in favor of a judicious and economical administration of State and National affairs, are requested to send delegates to a Convention to be held in

NOROMBEGA HALL, - - BANGOR,
THURSDAY, JUNE 24th,

At 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the Convention.

The basis of representation will be as follows. Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and one additional delegate for every seventy-five votes cast for Joshua L. Chamberlain at the Gubernatorial election of 1868. A fraction of forty votes will be entitled to an additional delegate.

No person will be admitted as a delegate from any town outside of the County of which he is a resident.

The State Committee will be in session at the reception room of the Hall, from 9 o'clock until 11 A. M., for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates, and to hear and determine all cases of contested elections, subject to ratification by the Convention.

Republican State Committee.

Great Britain finds herself in the midst of vexatious questions on every side, and she is not in the best mood imaginable. Her "loyal" American colonies have of late been kicking up rather restlessly, the Fenians are a perpetual sore in her old eyes, the Alabama question has ruffled her temper, and now the disestablishment of the Irish Church is liable to agitate her to a very disagreeable extent. We have scarcely ever read such threatening articles in any newspapers as the extracts recently sent by telegraph from the London journals. It seems that the pressure that has been brought to bear from all parts of the Kingdom against the measure of the House of Commons for what is considered by them a relief and a reform in the ultra, aristocratic order of things, has aroused the House of Lords to the determination to defeat the disestablishment bill. The precursor of this lay in the throats of the Conservative organs to make Mr. Gladstone and his party give way before the "influential classes of England and Ireland." But the measure is too strongly supported in the lower house, and is too favorably received by all classes of liberals, to admit of the possibility of being relinquished. The newspaper threats are only a reflection of the public feeling upon the subject, and unless the Lords succumb, there will be music in the coming few months of English history. The excitement is intense and will not subside till the question is settled to satisfy the popular will. Our own people at this time will take a deep interest in the coming events.

The astute editor of the Democrat devotes a leader to the correction of a little matter of history relative to an ancient Democrat, one Caligula. If he searches Gibbon carefully himself, he will find that the character of that eminent "constitutional" politician is quite vividly impressed upon the memory in that work, if it is by casual reference. But we tread upon awful ground in view of this criticism, and we crave more light. For example: Did the Democratic party once take a cold bath in the Red Sea under Pharaoh, or were they floored at Sodom and Gomorrah? Was it Caligula or Nero who resurrected the Democratic party? and when was it? Exact dates are necessary in order to establish its constitutionality. Is General Jackson dead, or is that after all a canard? Is the war a failure, or was that a joke? Is Seymour President, and is Blair driving out Congress? With reference to newspaperial history following 1861, can the South ever be coerced, or will the Northern hosts be driven back time after time with irrecoverable defeat? And finally, are those queries propounded with due regard for the "proper use of the English language?" Having reference to Democratic topics in all times, we trust they may be answered by the editor of the Democrat, who evidently dwells in the tents of historical unrighteousness.

A. McCracken has died somewhere out in Illinois, and the great question of the age is, whether it was the McCracken who constituted himself Secretary Seward's eavesdropper, and undertook to crack several diplomatic heads in Europe, and did drive Mr. Motley from Austria. It is a very important question, because it may settle all doubts as to the mortality of Seward's earthly conflict. If the McCracken is dead, it fairly decides that Seward's dispatches, and Andy Johnson's speeches, and Welles' water-logged gondolas, and McCulloch's financial jugglery, and Reverdy Johnson's appetite, may dry up when their several mortal coils are shuffled off. If it is only a McCracken who has left us, why the plague of these eminent characteristics may still endure amongst us to make the Yankee nation an amusing comedy among the peoples of the earth. The question therefore, becomes momentous, and without wishing the McCracken any harm, still as between the McCracken and a McCracken, we trust that the a McCracken is the one to be spared to us.

We are very glad to see it stated that a new National party is in contemplation; our only fear is that it may not be perfected. The party is to be officered by Sprague, Fowler, Ross, Henderson, and other dozy Republicans, and the objective point is Chase for President in 1872. We fear it is only a diversion for effect upon the old parties, but we trust it is genuine. The Republican party has buried a good many of its dead, similar to the big Doolittle and the brave Cowan, and it has a few more tears to shed, which are suffering to spout from their pent up fountains, and may as well be shed now as over, and we know of no subject over which we should more pleasurably weep. We need a waste-way for drift wood, such as follows Sprague, and let them erect it immediately.

Ex-President Johnson is said to have made his "crowning effort" in a speech at Clarksville the other day. The crowning effort of one species of quadruped is to wallow very deep in the mud, and we judge Andy was preparing for his own burial.

The N. Y. Times says the coal dealers are desperate and reiterate with angry vehemence the tales of strikes and suspensions among the miners. These are tales which, like the cry of "wolf," have been so often repeated, that the public no longer scare at them. There is no need that the public should be frightened at the reports; they are simply for the purpose of sustaining prices by creating a demand. The miners will soon be forced to go to work again, and the Fall supply will be fully equal to the demand, if the Summer demand does not amount to an unnecessary panic. Keep cool, and buy little coal.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOAR ON THE STATE OF TEXAS. The opinion of the Attorney General of the United States on the Weaver case in Texas is, as the Boston Journal says, a very able and conclusive document, and will be regarded of special significance at this time. The facts were, in substance, that Weaver, a civilian, was tried by military commission, last September, for the murder of a freedman, the District Judge having certified that he could not have a proper trial in the State Courts. The question, then, was, whether a case in which all the parties were civilians could be tried by a military tribunal so long after the war had ended in Texas. It will be seen that the whole question of the military government of the unreconstructed States of the South was thus put directly in issue.

Attorney General Hoar finds that Texas—and the same reasoning applies to the other rebellious States—was, during the war, deprived by her own treasonable act, of all lawful government as a State, and thus when her soil became subject to the military power of the United States, her citizens came under military law. That condition ended, not when hostilities ceased, but when the United States, through Congress, determined that it should end, which was when the provisions of what is usually called the Military Reconstruction Act of 1867 should be complied with—which result by the way, has not happened yet. This conclusion, he says, is perfectly consistent with the other declarations of the Government that the war has ended for specific purposes, such as calculating the pay of soldiers, &c. This opinion, therefore, clinches the whole reconstruction legislation of Congress, and quenches the last hope of those who had predicted that Grant's administration would begin a reaction against the advanced Republican standard.

SOCIETY OF THE BURNSIDE EXPEDITION. The "Society of the Burnside Expedition and of the Ninth Army Corps," has appointed Wednesday the 7th day of July, at 11 o'clock A. M., as the time, and Rocky Point, near Providence, R. I., as the place for the regular annual meeting of the Society. Every officer of the Army and Navy, and every enlisted man who served in the Burnside Expedition to North Carolina, or in the Ninth Army Corps, and was honorably discharged, or who remained in the regular service of the United States, is entitled to membership in the Society, upon subscribing to its constitution and by-laws, and paying the fee of two dollars. Fees should be forwarded to Col. D. R. Larned, Treasurer, Box 855, New York P. O., before July 6th.

An entertainment will be provided after the business meeting.

Arrangements are being made with the several railroad and steamboat companies for half fare.

The Washington Chronicle states positively that Hon. Caleb Cushing takes strong ground in favor of Senator Sumner's speech on the Alabama claims. Gen. Cushing has been one of the ablest leaders of the old Democracy. It is also stated that Hon. R. J. Walker, another Democratic leader, is preparing a powerful paper in support of the same side.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE—CONDITION OF THE ORDER IN NEW ENGLAND. The Secretary's report at the National Convention S. of T. in Washington says of the order in the New England States, that Massachusetts has recuperated from the heavy blow which fell upon the temperance movement in that State in 1867. Her returns show a falling off of six per cent. in membership, but the gain of 883 for the first three months of the present year has far exceeded the loss for the year previous. She has strained every nerve, paying out a large sum for expenses in propagating the order at home, as well as paying her portion to the National Division for general propagation purposes. Maine suffered with Massachusetts in the great reaction of 1867, and has not yet regained the lost ground, and shows a loss of about 23 per cent. in membership. She however, is doing better. The Grand Scribe says, in April: "We have reports from two more divisions, and 202 more members than last quarter, and so far, at least, this looks encouraging. It would indicate that we had touched bottom." Vermont has done but little for several years and needs active work to revive the order and create a new interest. New Hampshire and Rhode Island are reported as having slightly decreased in membership. Massachusetts has 116 divisions and 8727 members; Maine has 38 divisions and 1860 members; New Hampshire has 11 divisions and 670 members; Vermont has 3 divisions and 120 members; Connecticut has 22 divisions and 1908 members; Rhode Island has 7 divisions and 450 members. The total number of divisions in the United States and Canada is 1968, and the number of members is 96,673.

Reverdy Johnson at Home.

A reporter of the New York Times looked up Reverdy Johnson the other day, and gives a most entertaining account of the interview:

I found him more hale and vigorous looking than he was one year ago when he left the United States Senate, and in his parting address shed those tears which were so soon turned to smiles on his arrival in England. Mr. Johnson has positively got fat. If my eyes did not deceive me very much, he has a double chin, and when I saw him he reminded me a good deal of the "ruddy, fat and fair" picture of the English poet. He bubbles over with good humor. He is evidently very well satisfied with himself and with the English people, but he does hate Sumner and the Senate, and two or three newspaper editors and correspondents.

Mr. Johnson is an aristocrat by instinct, and a democrat by education and circumstances. His manner and conversation impressed me yesterday as one who had conceived a sudden and strange love for monarchical institutions, and for Dukes, Earls and Lords. He talks of his late experience and services in England as deserving the eternal gratitude of his countrymen, and there is no doubt in the world that he looks to a revulsion of public sentiment in his favor. But I shall let him speak for himself.

He threw himself on a lounge in the cool, Indian-matted parlor where he received me. "Yes," said he, "the English are a great people. They are rich, very warm hearted. My career there was a regular ovation from the first to the last. They dine about eight o'clock in the evening, and those public entertainments are splendid affairs." And here the old gentleman's eye twinkled and his face was wreathed in smiles at the pleasurable recollections of his innumerable banquets.

He continued: "I found nothing but good-will there for the United States. They received me with open arms. I was tendered more invitations to dinners, public and private, than I could eat. I addressed multitudes of people. I had to decline that Southampton banquet as I was leaving, because I was too unwell. I had an attack of indigestion and I could not go."

I expressed the hope that he was better then and said that I saw his home friends proposed to give him a dinner. To this he made no reply. A shade passed over his face, and I imagined that he was then revolving in his mind the respective merits of American and English banquets, drawing conclusions by no means friendly to the culinary achievements of his country men.

I attempted to get him again to the subject of England, but he was obstinate, and persisted in questioning me on domestic affairs.

"What do they say here?" said he.

"The newspapers?"

"Yes, the newspapers?"

"Well, some of them abuse you very freely, and think you made yourself too public; that you accepted too many invitations to public hospitalities, and that you should have lived more privately."

"They know nothing whatever about it. That man Smalley and one or two others abused me all the time. By the way what kind of person is Smalley? I never met him."

I told him something about Smalley.

"How is Sumner?" then said Mr. Johnson.

Here was Mr. Johnson's sore point. He had not a friendly word for Sumner and regarded his speech on the Alabama question as the source of all his tribulation. "Mr. Sumner is in Washington," I replied, "and feels extremely well satisfied with his speech."

"Well," replied Mr. Johnson, "I do not know that any one else is satisfied with it. I tell you that speech of Sumner that made England a unit against the United States. Our friends there have fallen off by troops. At first the people declared for war, but now I think they have got over that idea and are satisfied that our intentions are pacific. The speech having been approved by the Senate, the English people at first thought that it was a declaration of war, and were prepared to accept it in that spirit, but they have since changed their minds, and now they have justly arrived at the conclusion that Sumner is, after all, but one American citizen, and does not represent the views of the Administration."

For a few minutes Mr. Johnson here relapsed into silence, and then broke out again: "Sumner's speech is absurd! Do you know what they say of it in England? Clarendon says that it is absurd and preposterous; that it is not the speech of either a lawyer or a statesman; that its propositions are wholly inadmissible." "Why," said Mr. Johnson, "this same Mr. Sumner wrote to Mr. Bright on the 19th or 20th of last January that the protocol which I sent here would have been almost unanimously approved if it had been received three weeks sooner. The fact is the incoming President did not want the question settled during the Administration of Andrew Johnson, and the Republican party did not want the eclat of having the most difficult question of actual separation, that has arisen between the two countries, settled by a Democratic Administration. That was the point of objection to my course and to my protocol. Mr. Sumner said to my colleague, Mr. Vickers, that a month earlier, "it would have been as welcome as champagne. Bright denounces Sumner's speech in the strongest terms."

"Why don't the English papers publish Mr. Sumner's speech?"

"Why, because it is too nonsensical."

Mr. Johnson was very indignant on this subject. He could not tolerate the idea of attaching any importance of significance whatever to the ideas of the Massachusetts Senator. He started up from his seat, and walking up and down the room, nervously and rapidly said:

"The English Government will never accede to the Sumner demands, Clarendon won't yield one inch from his position. They have taken it and cannot be shaken in their resolve. They are very proud people, a powerful people, and cannot be frightened."

"What do you think of a war between England and the United States, Mr. Johnson? What would be the result of it?"

"The result would be unfavorable to us in the first place our debts are equal. But there will not be and cannot be a war so long as there is any common sense left to the two peoples. But, to talk about it for argument, England was never better prepared for a war than she is now, and the United States [illegible] the kind that [illegible] was during the rebellion. FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, June 10.

The Collector of Customs for the District of Middletown Connecticut, who was suspended a few days ago, has tendered his resignation, and the same has been accepted.

Eleven clerks in the Indian Bureau were notified yesterday that their resignations would be accepted.

The Railroad Disaster.

WASHINGTON, June 10.

Mr. Welld, who was injured, is an emigrant agent from Georgia; and was on his way to Europe. He is still at the Junction, it not being considered safe to remove him. Mr. O. W. Wells of Albany, N. Y., was somewhat injured, but was able to keep on his journey home.

The train also brought in here this morning one man from Georgetown, slightly injured, one colored woman with head badly cut and three colored men, who were bruised. Mr. R. J. Piggot, Internal Revenue officer of New York, was slightly wounded in the head.

The embankment at the point where the accident occurred is about 20 feet high.

New York Items, &c.

NEW YORK, June 10.

George Peabody left this P. M. for Boston, by the Fall River route.

The Connecticut Legislature failed to appear here at noon today by the New Haven Railroad, having reconsidered its proposed excursion.

The trial of the officers of the emigrant ship James Foster, on indictment for assault with intent to kill, commenced in the U. S. Court, before Judge Benedict. Fifteen indictments were found against them by the Grand Jury.

Thomas King, an old man, was arraigned today before Justice Dodge for shooting Edward Cavaugh about 4 o'clock this morning. King was committed to await the result of Cavaugh's injuries, which are dangerous.

Mr. Harlington, of the Central Pacific Railroad, California, started this evening in a sleeping car, from Jersey City, intending to go all the way through to the Pacific Coast. He has on board Messrs Hooper, James Brooks and Samuel S. Marshall, of the House Ways and Means Committee. Other members of the committee are to be taken on at Pittsburg and Chicago. Several ladies accompany the party.

Police officer O'Brien, while endeavoring to quell a disturbance this evening in a rum hole on Front street, was brutally beaten and stabbed. Two of his assailants were subsequently arrested.

NEWS FROM THE SOUTH.

NEW YORK, June 10.

A Montgomery dispatch to The Advertiser says the Radical Convention for the 3d District, at Opelika, is still at sea, and no agreement has been effected. The struggle is growing fiercer. The charge made against Norris, the late Representative, is that he is a citizen of Maine, and not of Alabama.—The principal opponents of Norris are native Republicans.

The Haynesville Examiner of today reports that the dreaded boll worm has made its appearance on a plantation in Lowndes county, and is carrying destruction to the cotton crop.

Mississippi.

JACKSON, June 10.

The trial of E. M. Yerger for killing Col. Crane, commenced today before a military commission, of which Brig. General R. S. Granger is President. The counsel for Yerger have filed objections to his trial by military commission, which will be argued tomorrow. Yerger plead not guilty to the charges and specifications. Eminent counsel have been engaged for his defense.

Georgia.

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 10.

The parties arrested in Warrenton by the military have been released by the Court, on giving bonds. Judge Andrews of the Circuit Court has forbidden the Sheriff at whose instance the arrests were made, to act or in any way to assume the functions of the office. Quiet has been restored, and good feeling exists between the citizens and the military.

From Havana.

NEW YORK, June 9.

The Herald has the following special from Havana—

HAVANA, June 9, via Key West, June 10.

News from Santiago de Cuba to the 4th is received.

All regular troops have left for active service in the field, and volunteers were guarding the city.

The fillibusters who landed at the Bay of Nipe had gone into the interior.

It is reported that Col. Tinaco, who commanded the fillibusters brought over by the steamer San Salvador, had been killed.

HAVANA, June 10.

The arrival of Gen. Lesca at Cienfuegos has infused spirit into the campaign in that section of the island, and several engagements are already reported to have taken place between his force and those of the insurgents.

The sugar market is quiet today at 8½a8¾ reals.

Personal.

Horrible Tragedy.

ALBANY, June 10.

On Monday night last, at Johnstown, Montgomery Co., Michael Finnegan assaulted his wife with a hatchet, and literally cut her head to pieces. His son, a small boy gave information of the murder; and Finnegan was arrested on Tuesday. He is a desperate character, and was a terror to the neighborhood.

Fire at Concord, N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., June 10.

A two story double house and barn on Merrimac street, was completely destroyed by fire this afternoon, caused by a defect in the chimney. It was owned by Franklin Mosely and Samuel L. Currier and occupied by Wm. M. Chase and Mr. Currier. The furniture was mostly saved. The house of Mr. Mosely and stable next adjoining were also damaged to the extent of about $1,600.

CABLE NEWS.

London, June 10.—Telegrams from Paris this morning, report that the crowds in the Mont Martre District yesterday, dispersed on the appearance of the military, without offering any resistance. No damage has been done beyond the breaking of some windows. Many of the most prominent in creating the disturbance have been arrested.

London, June 10. The Right Hon. Gathorne Hardy, at a banquet given in Lamington, made a strong speech against the Irish Church bill. He said the disestablishment was a concession to fenianism and a direct injury to the loyal men who had hitherto been ultra zealous in their devotion to the Crown, and for the sake of conciliating traitors, these men were to be injured. It was the tenure of lands and not the tenure of the Irish Church which lay at the root of the grievances of Ireland. It was not for him to say what the House of Lords would do with the bill. He would accept their verdict as a conscientious and constitutional decision, which the country should receive with deference.

Another appalling disaster occurred in the coal mines at Merthyr Tydvil today. An explosion—the cause of which is unknown—took place while the men were at work. But few of the miners escaped from the pit, and it is reported that 120 were killed.

Belfast, June 10. Thirteen members of an Orange Lodge in this city have been arrested for a disturbance of the peace. A collision occurred today between the police and people, in which several persons were injured, but none fatally.

London, June 10. In the House of Commons tonight, in reply to an inquiry of Mr. Corbit, Mr. Otway, under secretary of Foreign Affairs, said that the United States Government was desirous of having a full investigation made into the circumstances of the murder of Speer.

A dispatch from Bombay, reports the wreck of the ship Great Northern near that port. Fifteen of her crew were lost.

ALLEGED BRUTAL TREATMENT OF A SAILOR. The San Francisco papers contain an account of the arrest of the three officers of ship Archer of Boston, at that port, on the charge of brutal treatment of a sailor, named Henry Schmidt, who was found on board with his throat cut. The statement of the steward bears hard upon the officers, but it is not believed by the owners, who have employed Captain Power for several years, and have entire confidence in his discretion and humanity. The first mate is also favorably known to them. The owners have received a letter from Captain Power, dated San Francisco, May 20, in which it appears that it was the second mate, watchman, and one man who were arrested. He says:

"I have had much trouble with my crew which has caused me anxiety and expense. One of my men in a fit of delirium tremens attempted to commit suicide. This induced the others to make such charges against the second mate, watchman and one man as to cause them to be arrested and taken from the ship. After consulting with competent persons I have shipped others in their stead, and as the ship is ready for sea I shall proceed without delay. The affair has been got up to extort money from me, and in doing as I have done I have acted under advice, and as I think right."

THE AMERICAN HOMOEOPATHIC INSTITUTE. This large and influential body of physicians commenced the meetings connected with their twenty-second annual session in this city yesterday. It is ten years since the Institute met here before, and both Boston and Homoeopathic in America have grown some during that interval. The Institute numbers among its attendant members many of the most faithful and eminent of the medical practitioners in the country, and they can rest assured that they will always receive a hearty and cordial welcome in this city, and that our citizens will be glad to have them make a social visit here oftener than once in a decade. The exercises yesterday were quite interesting, and were well attended for the opening day, and Prof. Ludlam's address last evening gave very intelligent and liberal treatment of one of the vital and vexing questions of the age—Shall women practice medicine?

[Boston Journal.

A very profound and wonderful reform has just been begun in Paris. The principal shops—including those of nearly all the linen drapers, hosiers, silk mercers and vendors of ready made apparel—will henceforth be closed on Sundays. The merchants have taken this step of their own accord, and their employees "appeal to the good will of the public to aid them in making the measure general." When Paris enjoys a Christian Sabbath, there will be some prospect of its ceasing to be a heathen city.

LOCAL AND MARINE ITEMS.

THE BANGOR AND BUCKSPORT RAILROAD. The Ellsworth American is alive this week upon the proposed railroad from Bangor to Bucksport. It says: "We went to Bucksport Monday evening to see a railroad meeting, and to hear a railroad talk, and to witness our Bucksport friends warmed up to a healthy glow on a subject which takes hold of their future prosperity so strongly that he who runs may see. We came back fully impressed with the belief that a road from there to Bangor is now an accepted fact. It certainly looks like it, and there can be no doubt that our friends in Ellsworth and farther east, are very greatly interested in such project.—Once reach Bucksport with Railroad communication, and it is sure to extend beyond, and finally meet the wants of the whole eastern coast. The project seems to open with such spirit that its success can scarcely be doubted."

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING. It is proposed by the S. S. School Committee that an additional lot to the brick school building lot on State street be purchased and a new building be erected thereon to accommodate the Salem Court, York street and Pine street schools which they propose shall be removed thereto. The cost of the new building and lot will probably be about $30,000. The subject is referred to the Committee on Public Schools, who will be in session this evening at 7½ o'clock at the Aldermen's Room to consider it. All persons interested are invited to be present.

THE SALMON FISHERY. It has been very seldom that the salmon fishery upon our river has been so productive and so lucrative as the present season. These very excellent fish we are gratified to know are not being driven from our rivers as many have feared. They appear not only more plentiful than usual, but are much handsomer and larger. Almost every day several very fine specimens are brought in.—Yesterday was more particularly a "good day for Salmon." Low displayed forty-nine in his market, some weighing 25 lbs, and the lot averaging over 15. It was as fine a sight as any sportsman would ask. Two men brought thirty-five from down the river. The balance came from above, where the largest are taken. The largest of the lot are going to Boston, to assist in the Peace Festival Chorus.

—Overcoats are not only a comfort, but almost a necessity these cold evenings.

—Vegetation is coming forward rapidly.

HOURS AND BANCROFT'S combination were greeted with a full house last evening, and judging from the applause which the performance received they gave good satisfaction to the audience. They give another performance tonight.

POLICE COURT. Thursday, June 10. Richard Nally contributed his mite towards the erection of the new jail by paying a fine of $5 and costs for being drunk and making a disturbance.

—The School Committee are introducing object lessons into our schools as an experiment. The teachers "object" to being obliged to furnish themselves with text books at an expense of some four dollars.

VALUE OF A WATER SUPPLY. The following letter from Hon. Rufus S. Frost, Chairman of the Board of Water Commissioners, of Chelsea, Mass., states in a brief yet clear and forcible manner some of the arguments in favor of a full supply of pure water. It will be read with interest. The statements made in this letter are only a fair sample of all the reports received from places where water works are in operation:

CHELSEA, Mass., June 2, 1869.

James Dunning, Esq.

Dear Sir—Your letter of the 7th inst. is just received. Our experience is that where people live so near together (with vaults and sewers) as we do in cities, pure water cannot be had from wells, and although the water may appear clear it frequently contains poison and causes a large proportion of the fevers which always occur in cities not supplied with pure water.

No city can afford to be without pure water for culinary uses, and as soon as it is introduced almost every family will take it, even if opposed to it before its introduction.

It is generally worth more than its cost for extinguishing fires, as in the case of Lynn recently. As it is, it is of great value for large manufacturing establishments and does more than any other one agent in increasing the taxable property of a city. The argument is almost entirely on one side. I send by this mail some of our city documents on this subject.

Yours, &c., RUFUS S. FROST.

A STAY-AT-HOME. We know a man in this city who, thirty-three years ago next Fall, when a boy of thirteen, stood upon the railroad bridge on Centre street and saw the first train of cars go over the new road to Oldtown. He has lived in this city ever since, learning his trade and afterwards working at it, yet he has never seen Oldtown, only twelve miles away, nor ever rode upon a railroad, except to go upon the Maine Central road to Newport. It is needless to add that the man of such "stay-at-home" habits is a printer.

—The Waldron Express Company send a messenger on the outside boat to-day.—They run regularly on all boats leaving Bangor for Boston or Portland.

ACCIDENTS IN CORINTH. We learn that a Mr. Morrill of Corinth was found in a dying condition in his barn, on Tuesday, where he had gone to milk his cows. He was taken to the house and medical attendance procured, but he died in half an hour. It was supposed he was injured by the cattle.

On the same day, Deacon Dexter, while on his way from this city to Corinth, was thrown from his carriage and narrowly escaped death.

—The list of premiums for the Bangor Horticultural Exhibition will be found on our fourth page.

A NEW INVENTION. We have examined a very neat meat chopper, the invention of Mr. W. H. Pierce of this city. It is simple, cheap and does the work easily and faithfully, leaving no part half cut.—We believe it is destined to come into general use.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY. In Dixmont on the 7th inst., Alexander Edminster was brought before L. W. Starbird, Esq., on a charge of assault and battery upon Charles Peabody, an old man and a cripple, who lost a leg in the war of 1812. After a hearing of the case, Edminster was fined $1 and costs, but appealed and, recognized in the sum of $200 to appear at the August term of the S. J. Court at Bangor.

Also, on the 8th instant, before the same Justice, Albert Nason was arraigned on the same charge, upon George Tenney, plead guilty, and was fined one cent and costs.

SINGULAR FREAK. The Portland Argus says a pair of birds located their nest in the timbers of the new vessel being built in Westbrook by Capt. Henry Small laid their eggs and hatched the young with the workmen all about. The old birds are very attentive to the young, and pay little or no heed to the men. As the work progresses it is occasionally necessary to move the nest temporarily, which the birds take all in good part. This is certainly a singular freak, and the old salts will put it down as a good omen for Capt. Small's fine new vessel.

House of Correction.

To the Editor of the Daily Whig:

By statute it is the duty of the County Commissioners to erect or otherwise provide at the expense of the County a convenient House of Correction with suitable accommodation for the custody, reform and employment of offenders. The present House of Correction is the poor House, which is not a proper place for it. I therefore suggest as a new County Jail is about being built, that the old jail be altered and made suitable and convenient for a House of Correction. If this suggestion meets your approval and other of our citizens, a petition to that effect will be circulated in a few days.

REFORM.

[As we understand the matter the new jail building is intended to accommodate both the jail and House of Correction. If this is the case there will be no necessity of repairing the old jail, to do which properly would cost more than to erect a new one.]

—The Central Church of Bath has extended a call to Rev. Smith Baker of [illegible] to become its pastor.

—The Literary Societies of Colby University have engaged Rev. Wm. R. Alger, of Boston, to deliver the oration, and Rev. Theron Brown of Canton, Mass., to deliver the poem at their anniversary August 10th.

—Portland is raising the wind pretty largely for the 4th of July.

—On Thursday last week, an only child of Emery and Margaret Moon of Hancock aged 4 years, while playing with matches, got her clothes on fire, and before assistance came to her relief, the child was so badly burned that it died next day.

—The Ellsworth American says:—"Launched at Seal Cove from the yard of Hiram Fly, 25th ult., a fine schooner of about 200 tons O. M. called the "Light of the East." To be commanded by Capt. J. A. Hinds."

—The Ellsworth American has a letter from Castine, which says Mr. Beety, an Engineer was in town a day or two since, and he says that about $250, will cover the cost of survey and making the plan for a road from Castine to Ellsworth. The citizens of the town are ready to contribute to have a railroad route surveyed from there to Ellsworth. We hope our account of the Bucksport meeting will serve to arouse those interested in the prosperity of the county, to vigorous measures looking towards having the "iron horse" introduced into the county.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND AND TELEGRAPH. Attorney General Hoar has given it as his opinion that the Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company cannot land its cable upon the coast of Maine, under a grant from this State, in the absence of an authorization from the general government, which has paramount authority in the matter.

—The bridge crossing the Kennebec at Hallowell fell yesterday morning, and two spans of it were carried down the river. The bridge was the [illegible] one, built of spruce in 1860. A ferry will be placed there for this season and next winter the bridge will be rebuilt.

THE JANESVILLE POSTMISTRESS. The Nation pays the following compliment to the woman who got a post office in spite of Mr. Hopkins of Wisconsin.

"Of one woman at least, it may be said she is not only helping to prove the fitness of her sex for a share in political life, but is, while doing so, helping to purify and elevate politics. We mean the present postmistress of Janesville, Wis., for whom we hereby express our hearty admiration. She was unable to get herself nominated or recommended for office by the Congressman of the district—a distinction he shares with almost everybody in the United States who is fit for office—so she determined to fight him, and instead of going about abusing him on the platform, she polled the town on the respective merits of his candidate and herself, and got a majority of two hundred votes in her own favor. Armed with this she went to Washington, where she again beat him and got the appointment, and now fresh from this field, she asks Mr. Jenckes's permission to reprint his speech on civil service reform before such audiences as she can get to listen to her in the district. We believe Mr. Jenckes is more sanguine than ever of his final success in carrying his bill. A vigorous agitation of the question in the West next fall has been determined on, and the speakers will now be fortified by the history of the first three months of Grant's administration, and by, we believe, the unanimous testimony of the heads of bureaus, if not of departments, in the public service. We may add that, inasmuch as whatever helps to make office the reward of knowledge and good conduct simply, naturally helps to lower the importance of the quality of sex, no class can be more interested in the reform than women. Nevertheless, we have yet to hear a word in support of Mr. Jenckes's movement at any of their lectures or conventions. We trust they are going to mend their ways in this respect."

—The Cincinnati Commercial characterizes the new equestrian statue of Washington for the public garden of this city as "the biggest thing in bronze of Washington that is to be seen in the country."

Nature the Great Physician.

This is now admitted by the medical profession as a fundamental principle of healthy science. It is wisely provided by the human economy that whenever anything [illegible] the physical system [illegible] the natural forces [illegible] the disease. The great aim, therefore, [illegible] the natural powers. This has been accomplished by the famous compound of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which operate to give fresh vitality to all the organs of the body. The effect of this medicine upon the stomach, the liver and the kidneys, is prompt and decisive. The patient who is wise enough to quit drugging and try the BITTERS, soon feels [illegible] he has taken a few doses of life, and as he continues the use of the article, he is overjoyed to find the stream of health returning through his frame. It is prepared with great care, and its component parts are entirely vegetable. It is free from the objections so often urged against preparations of this kind. As a MEDICAL AGENT it has no equal while its pleasing flavor and healthful effect have made it a general favorite. It is free from all properties calculated to impair the system, and [illegible]. All who have used HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS attest its virtue.

Even those who are in the enjoyment of perfect health frequently have need to have recourse to tonics as preventives of disease. We are never too well armed against the assault of [illegible] the ills that flesh is heir to. In health or sickness this tonic cannot but be taken regularly without giving vitality and strength to the system.

Foot-Prints of Music

WRITTEN BY [illegible] PERRY, ESQ., OF PORTLAND, while enjoying a picnic at the Islands with a party who were evidently fond of music.

I

The progress of Music to one who was clever.
Might be a fit topic for rhyme,
Its date we can't tell, but have no doubt, whatever,
That Tune is as ancient as Time;
For the Angels rejoiced, at the primal foundation
Of Earth, as the clouds rolled away,
And showed the fair face of the infant creation,
Lit up by the newly born day.
They shouted for joy to behold what was done,
While, in transport at seeing fair weather,
The planets commenced a brisk waltz round the sun,
And the bright morning stars sang together.

II

The folks, as well as, were in Paradise leading
A mighty harmonious life,
When the Serpent, while Adam, his carrots was weeding,
Essayed a duet with his wife:
This produced some harsh chords, and (of course with good reason)
The blame was laid off upon Eve,
And having debated the case for a season,
The Lady was ordered to leave;
But to part from her Adam was not such a fool,
So he gave up his nice situation—
And hence, we conclude, has arisen the rule
To let discords prepare modulation.

III

As people increased, it might well be expected
That trouble and strife would begin;
And we find that where music was scorned or neglected,
They quarrelled and acted like sin;
But the singers in harmony still held their way on,
And one day to help them along,
Tubal Cain made a harp for his brother to play on,
And symphony thus joined with song;
The oldest of instruments, then, we may say,
Was the Jew's harp—though Paddy supposes
The Bag-pipe was first, and he swears to this day
"By the Piper that played before Moses."

IV

When wrong and oppression of sundry descriptions
The Hebrews had suffered, at length
They got discontented, and left the Egyptians,
Who after them marched in great strength;
They passed through the sea, and, intent on pursuing,
Their foes followed after, we're told;
But, before they well knew what the deuce they were doing,
Got shockingly wet, and took cold.
The Israelites then, who at first view had thought
All was lost, and were frightened to see 'em—
Beholding the mighty deliverance wrought,
Joined in chorus, and sang a Te Deum.

V

When the Hebrews advanced to lay siege to the city
Of Jericho, that was so strong
That the citizens mocked them, and said 'twas a pity
They'd have to lie round there so long;
They'd have no powder, nor cannon; but Joshua, knowing
The science of sound, gave command
To make seven trumpets of ram's horns for blowing,
And got up a sort of brass band,
They marched round the city each day, and full soon
The pride of the scoffers was humbled,
For they played "Yankee Doodle" so much out of tune
That walls could not stand it, and tumbled.

VI

The land being won, as their chronicles mention,
Of plenty and quiet possessed,
They then to advancing the arts turned attention,
And Music along with the rest;
King David the binus bestowed, it is stated,
On Psalmody much of his care,
While Solomon, wisest of all men created,
Wrote love-songs, and sang to the Fair;
And having teased music thus far on its way
So plainly, 'tis hoped none will doubt it,
We here leave the subject for some other day,
And for minstrels who know more about it.

Charles Dickens' "Fly Leaf from a Life"

Dickens has been sick—an event that has caused more genuine apprehension and sorrowful foreboding than if Bonaparte, Victoria, Francis Joseph, Alexander, William, Victoria Emanuel, Abdul Aziz (successor of 'Abdul as was') and Pius Ninth, had been in imminent peril of death. The great novelist describes his experiences with characteristic humor. After noting the identity of his symptoms with those he inflicted upon Mr. Merdle in 'Little Dorrit,' he makes these further remarks under the caption of a 'Fly Leaf from a Life.'

But while I so rested, thankfully recovering every hour, I had experiences more odd than this. I had experience of spiritual conceit, for which, as giving me a new warning against that curse of mankind, I shall always feel grateful to the supposition that I was too far gone to protest against playing sick lion to any stray donkey with an itching hoof. All sorts of people seemed to become vicariously religious at my expense. I received the most uncompromising warning that I was a Heathen; on the conclusive authority of a field preacher, who, like the most of his ignorant and vain and daring class, could not construct a tolerable sentence in his native tongue or pen a fair letter. This inspired individual called me to order and know in the freest and easiest way, where I was going to, and what would become of me if I failed to fashion myself on his bright example, and was on terms of blasphemous confidence with the Heavenly Host. He was in the secrets of my heart, and in the lowest soundings of my soul—he!—and could read the depths of my nature better than his A B C, and could turn me inside out, like his own clammy glove. But what is far more extraordinary than this—for such dirty water as this could alone be drawn from such a shallow and muddy source—I found from the information of a beneficed clergyman of whom I never heard, and whom I never saw, that I had not as I rather supposed I had lived a life of some reading contemplation and inquiry that I had not studied, as I rather supposed I had, to inculcate some Christian lessons in books; that I had never tried, as I rather supposed I had, to turn a child or two to the knowledge and love of our Savior; that I never had had, as I supposed I had had, departed friends, or stood beside open graves; but that I had lived a life of 'uninterrupted prosperity' and that I needed this 'check over much' and that the way to turn it to account was to read these sermons and these poems, inclosed, and written and issued by my correspondent! I beg it may be understood that I relate facts of my own uncommercial experience, and no vain imaginings. The documents in proof lie near my hand.

Another odd entry on the 'fly-leaf' [illegible] more entertaining character, w[illegible] wonderful persistency with [illegible] pathizers assumed that I [illegible] coupled with the so sudden [illegible] pursuit, those personal [illegible] most obviously in compat[illegible] most plainly impossible [illegible] ed, along with it. As, al[illegible] that cold bathing all that [illegible] or, all that uphill training [illegible] thing else, say, which is [illegible] about by express trains [illegible] add hat-box and partake [illegible] ing row of gas-lights in [illegible] two thousand people. Th[illegible] whole case against all fa[illegible] struck me as particularly [illegible] an oddity of which I certain[illegible] quite experienced in life u[illegible] curious fly-leaf.

My old acquaintances, [illegible] tor writers, came out on t[illegible] piously indeed. 'They w[illegible] a serious crisis, to offer m[illegible] tunity of sending that 'Po[illegible] needing make it a pound, [illegible] sisted on ten shillings [illegible] mind. And Heaven for[illegible] should refuse, at such an [illegible] ure, to take a weight off t[illegible] erring fellow-creature [illegible] on artistic torn (and copic[illegible] the books of the Mendicity [illegible] it might soothe my consol[illegible] der respect of gifts misused [illegible] immediately cash up in [illegible] talent for original design [illegible] of which the inclosed mo[illegible] which I recognize as a track [illegible] cut originally published in [illegible] Trollope's book on Ameri[illegible] years ago. The number [illegible] were prepared to live long [illegible] untiring benefactors to th[illegible] fifty pounds apiece down, [illegible] Also, of those who wanted [illegible] still penitential amounts, [illegible] not to keep, on any account.

Divers wonderful medical [illegible] chines insinuated [illegible] themselves into the fly-leaf [illegible] have been so blank. It was [illegible] observable that every pre[illegible] on a moral or physical dir[illegible] thoroughly—knew me from [illegible] in and out through and thr[illegible] down. I was a glass piece [illegible] erty, and everybody was [illegible] prisingly intimate terms with me. A few public institutions had compl[illegible] ceptions of corners in my mind, [illegible] after considerable self-examination, I have not discovered any indication. [illegible] printed forms were address[illegible] ters, beginning with these words [illegible] and bequeath.'

Will it seem exaggerating [illegible] lief that the most honest, the [illegible] and the least-vain glorious [illegible] cords upon this strange fly-leaf [illegible] er, from the self-deceived discover[illegible] ho reconditie secret how to live four or five hundred years? Doubtless it will seem so, yet the statement is not exagger-ative by any means, but is made in my serious and sincere conviction. With this and with a laugh at the rest that shall not be cynical, I turn the fly-leaf, and go on again.

Topsawyer, of the house of Topsawyer, Bullion & Co., importers and merchants, Boston, found himself going into a bank in New York last week, with a check drawn to his own order, which he duly endorsed and presented to the paying teller.

"Mr. Topsawyer?" inquired that individual, glancing at the robust figure before him.

"Yes, sir," said Topsawyer, scrupulously, from behind his ample waistcoat, "that's my name."

"Know any one here, Mr. Topsawyer?"

"Know any one here?" said the merchant, looking round the busy crowd of money-counters, book-keepers and others that were within his range of vision, "No, not a soul."

"Very sorry, sir, we cannot pay out money unless the holder of the check is known to us, or identified as being the proper person to receive it by some one we know."

"Proper person to receive it, sir," said Topsawyer, growing red about the gills, "proper person to receive it, why, anybody knows me in New York; Spratt, Roe & Co., Fish Dealers; T. C. Nannion & Co., Grocers; Bullion & Co., Bankers."

"Very likely, sir, but I do not know you, and you must bring in some one that I know to identify you."

Topsawyer, crimson and swelling with suppressed indignation that he, the grand Topsawyer, should be served in this manner, siezed the check and strode into the street. He had walked scarce half a dozen steps, when he met Galloons, of Galloons Bros. & Co., the great dry goods house.

"How are ye, Galloons? Just the man I want to see! Come in here, and identify me so I can draw a check."

"Certainly," said Galloons, and in they went.

"Mr. Teller," said Topsawyer to the payer out of bank notes, "allow me to make you acquainted with Mr. Galloons, house of Galloons Bros. & Co., dry goods, Murray street."

"How do you do, sir?" said the teller.

"This is all right," said Galloons, pompously, from behind another big waistcoat, "This is Mr. Topsawyer, of Boston, and I know him."

"That may be, sir," said the teller again to Galloons, "but I don't know you."

"Wha-wa-what?" said Topsawyer, bulging over at this second refusal, "don't know him? What d'ye mean by that? Haven't I just introduced you?"

—The cause of freedom is identified with the destinies of humanity, and in whatever part of the world it gains ground, by and by will be a common gain to all those who desire it.

—"I have never felt willing," said Dr. Dewey, in one of his lectures, "in performing the marriage ceremony, to ask the word obey in reference to the wife—wedlock being a state of entire reciprocity."

—Noxubee county, Missippi, has had the champion hail storm. The stones were the size of a man's head, and it is graphically remarked, wherever the tornado of frozen missiles touched a field, universal ruin followed.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM.

The attention of those afflicted with coughs, and with any disease of the lungs is [illegible] to this valuable remedy. [illegible]

To arrest the [illegible] and cure in the [illegible] this disease MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM [illegible] promptly and effectually arrests all [illegible] and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs [illegible] accumulated mucus in the air passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest in the nmost [illegible]

The sufferer with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those where condition is beyond recovery, will derive from it a great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its great efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years thousands have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use, while suffering from severe colds, or treated coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable, balsams, and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no mineral or poisonous acids, simple and safe in the materials used, it can be taken at any time.

NATIONAL Life Insurance Co.

OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Chartered by Special Act of Congress,

Approved July 25, 1868.

Cash Capital, $1,000,000.

PAID IN FULL.

BRANCH OFFICE:

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING,

PHILADELPHIA,

Where the general business of the Company is transacted, and to which all general correspondence should be addressed.

OFFICERS.

CLARENCE H. CLARK, President.
JAY COOKE, Chairman Finance and Executive Committee.
HENRY D. COOKE, Vice-President.
EMERSON W. PEET, Secretary and Actuary.

This Company offers the following advantages:

It is a National Company, chartered by special Act of Congress, 1868.

It has a paid-up capital of $1,000,000.

It offers low rates of premium.

It furnishes larger insurance than other companies for the same money.

It is definite and certain in its terms.

It is a home company in every locality.

Its policies are exempt from attachment.

There are no unnecessary restrictions in the policies.

Every policy is non-forfeitable.

Policies may be taken which pay to the insured their full amount, and return all the premiums, so that the insurance costs only the interest on the annual payments.

Policies may be taken that will pay to the insured, after a certain number of years, during life an annual income of one-tenth the amount named in the policy.

No extra rate is charged for risks upon the lives of females.

It insures, not to pay dividends to policy-holders, but at so low a cost that dividends will be impossible.
